

TMF YOUTH CLUBS SCHOOL FACULTY LIAISON RESOURCES

Thank you for volunteering to serve as a guide for the students at your school as they move their Travis Manion Foundation Youth Club forward. In your role as TMF School Faculty Liaison, you'll be collaborating with TMF staff and your school's TMF Mentor on programs and activities for the club to implement. School Faculty Liaisons help bring the mission of TMF to your school community.

We've compiled a list of resources below to help you navigate your role. Some of these will help you get to know TMF and our mission more while others may be used to guide students in their TMF Youth Club.

"What is Character" video

TMF and TMF Youth Clubs are rooted in the idea that we are all called to lead with character. In this video, which TMF Mentors will share with your club members, you'll learn about the namesake of our organization, 1stLt Travis Manion, USMC, and his brother-in-arms, Navy Lt (SEAL) Brendan Looney, and the role character played in both of their lives. You'll also learn more about how we can leverage our personal stories to strengthen and develop character in ourselves and others.

VIA Character Strength Survey

While TMF Mentors will encourage your club members to complete the VIA Character Strengths survey, it's a valuable tool for you as well. Rooted in the science of positive psychology, this free survey helps individuals identify their personal character strengths so they can better apply them in their everyday lives.

InnerView Main Website and Innerview TMF Student Account

InnerView accounts are required to maintain the activities and record service hours carried out by your TMF Youth Club. Each individual club member should create their own Innerview account to track service hours and record any Operation Legacy service projects they host or participate in throughout the year. This helps TMF monitor activities and engagement of your club.

Operation Legacy Service Projects

TMF Youth Clubs are required to carry out two Operation Legacy service projects per school year. Here, you can explore examples of projects to help students consider when planning out ways they can serve their school or community. Projects fill varying needs, from beautification efforts to serving vulnerable populations.
